An Response to Opposition No. 91223959

In responding to the opposition put forward by registered mark “SUNPOWER” (85408770, 85585503, 77879227, 76688239 and 76283765) against the filing mark “SUNGOLDPOWER” (86503923), the applicant shall answer the opposition as follows:

First, from the aspect of the drawing, the two marks are not likely to cause confusion among customers. (a) The applicants’ mark consists of the literal element “SUNGOLDPOWER” in smaller font under design of a bright sun over the horizon. As the design is over the literal element, more obvious and vivid, it shall leave a deeper impression on the customers than the literal element; (b) The literal element of the registered mark is merely “SUN POWER”, suggesting “solar power”, which is 100% related to the goods such as “solar cell panels; solar batteries; solar cells” protected by the registered marks. The registered marks are so descriptive that the wording “sun” and/or “power” can not be exclusively used by the owner unless concerned marks have already caused confusion among customers; (c) Regarding to the mark “SUNGOLDPOWER”, “GOLD” is inserted between “SUN” and “POWER”, with “SUNGOLD” in bold, differing itself from the word “POWER”. In such case, the fixed concept of “SUN POWER” is largely weakened; (d) From the first day the mark is used in commerce, not even a single customer mentioned that the filing mark “SUNGOLDPOWER” is similar to another mark. On October 16th, 2009, “SUNGOLDPOWER” is used and in July, 2012, it is used in commerce. Since then, “SUNGOLDPOWER” has been developing its market mainly in America, but also many other countries worldwide, for example, countries in EU, Africa, Latin America etc. If the questioned marks are confusingly similar, there would have been many (or at least several) customers questioned about this in the past four years and the applicant and/or the owner should have realized that. The truth is, no.

Second, the goods of the questioned marks are not identical and will not make the customers confused. As the table “Comparison between the goods” in the attached evidence, the only identical goods is “inverters” between the pending mark (86503923) and the registered mark (85585503). And the applicant is willing to delete the goods to avoid a slim possibility of causing confusion.

Third, ever since the mark’s in use, the applicant has spent a lot of effort and money in managing the “SUNGOLDPOWER” in promotion advertising through all kinds of channels like twitter, blog, facebook, youtube, amazon, ebay, aliexpress etc. Since its first business in 2012, “SUNGOLDPOWER” has gradually and continuously established a good reputation among its customers. The selling records and contracts listed in the evidence take only a small proportion of the total amount. As a whole, the applicant is not protecting a mark managed for years instead of imitating or rush registering others’ mark.

From the aspects of the drawing, the goods and the response of the customers, the mark is not likely to cause confusion among the purchasers.
